

CLASSICAL STUDIES NEWSLETTER Fall 2024

WILLIAM
& MARY

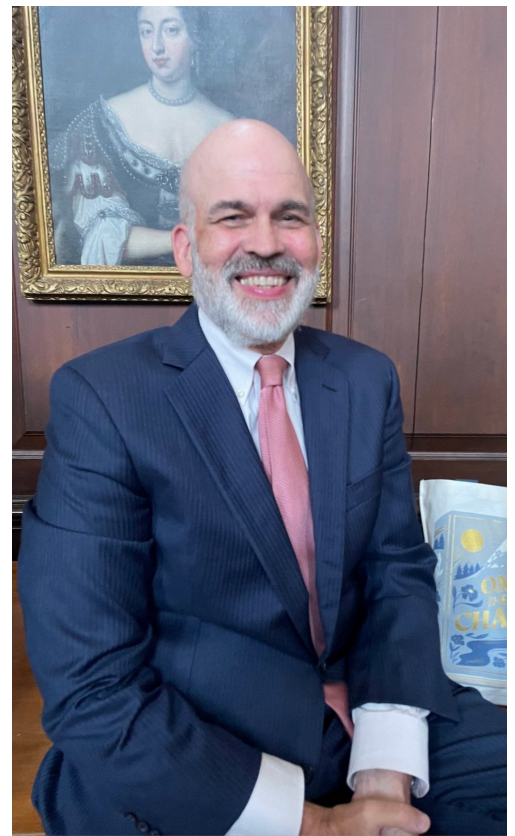

CHARTERED 1693

It's a new year – and a new look for our newsletter!

Professor Halleran retired in Spring 2024. We will miss his sage advice, generosity, and sense of humor. Don't worry, though, he'll still be in Williamsburg and we hope to see him at our events. He may even teach from time to time! He recently published a translation of the Alcestis with Swem's Open Access scholarship program.

Congratulations to Professor Panoussi, who will be at the American Academy in Rome this year on a Rome Prize. She's writing a book about Isis in Roman literature. Read more here.

Save the date!
Homecoming Open House
Oct 19, 10-noon,
Classical Studies
library. rsvp to Joyce Holmes
jrholm@wm.edu.

Call for Papers! We are hosting a conference about ancient performance this Spring. Read more here

Support Classical Studies!
<https://go.wm.edu/5R1pfz>

We've started a new project, featuring student and student-faculty research on the lives of people around the Mediterranean basin: The Mosaic Lab.

Check out this exhibit that Prof Swetnam-Burland and Julia Bowers '23 put together about Palmyrene portraits.

Lydia Li '23 and students in "Ancient Athens" toured the city using Virtual Reality through Prof. Paga's partnership with W&M's Studio for Teaching and Learning.

Check out our new series of alumni profiles! – Monica Davis '02 and Amber Kreiensiack '19 got us off to a great start. We aim to feature alumni at various career stages and in many professions. We're interested in all kinds of careers. Please get in touch if you are willing to participate!

more coming soon!

We also gather news from our alumni/ae on our website, here. you have a life event or update to share, please reach out! mswetnam@wm.edu Chair, Department of Classical Studies

Outreach! Last year, our faculty visited students in person and virtually at Hampton High School, the VCJL, and the Governor's Latin Academy. Do you teach high school in Virginia? Reach out if you are interested in a virtual visit!