Second Language Requirement

The International Relations major requires intermediate proficiency in a modern language other than the native language of the student. The student can meet this requirement in two ways:

Option 1: Study one modern language. You may continue with the modern language you used to meet the College requirement or choose another language. You must take two courses above the 202 level. The courses must be taught in the target language.

For example: 202 language proficiency in Spanish + two courses above 202 in Spanish

Option 2: Study two modern languages. You may continue with the language you used to meet the College requirement and then select a second language. You must achieve the 202 level in both of the languages and take one course over the 202 level in one of the languages. The courses must be taught in the target language.

For example: 202 language proficiency in Spanish + 202 language proficiency in Russian + one course above 202 in either Spanish or Russian

NOTE:

- Á 203 is a combined version of 201 and 202, allowing you to take both of these classes in one semester. It is only equivalent to 202, however, and does not count as a course above the level of 202.
- Á If you are a native speaker of a language other than English, consult with your advisor about meeting the IR language requirement using your native language
