WASHINGTON CENTER

July 2022

Summer is always a busy time of year at the W&M Washington Center. Since the end of the spring semester, our team has had the pleasure of welcoming dozens of Study in D.C. students, guest speakers, local alumni and W&M faculty to our new building in the Mt. Vernon Triangle area. As our new space receives its final touches over the next several weeks, we are excited to usher in the newest generation of W&M students to the nation's vibrant capital and continue hosting our community of alumni as W&M's Campus in the City. We hope to see more of you at one of our many events planned for the remainder of the season!

FACULTY FEATURE JAIME SETTLE

Professor Jaime Settle, Wakefield Term Distinguished Associate Professor of Government, has been a staple of the Center's D.C. Summer Institutes since 2015. This past June, Jamie taught her last session of the American Politics Institute, one of most popular courses offered at the Center.

On behalf of the entire Washington Center team and her students past and present, we want to recognize Jaime for bringing her boundless intellectual generosity to the Center over the years and express our gratitude for her commitment as an educator, researcher, and friend to the Washington Center family.

Looking into the future, we are excited to follow Jaime's continued success as an integral part of W&M's efforts expand its presence and influence in computational and data sciences.

D.C. SUMMER INSTITUTES RECAP AND UPDATES

The D.C. Summer Institutes '22 cohort first joined us in late May for a 2-week academic experience. They have since begun their 10-week internships, earning 7 credit hours for completing academic coursework and internship experience. All 47 students secured internships, working everywhere from politics to media and advocacy organizations across the capital.

Looking forward, students will spend their time engaging in unique and enriching experiences around the city and continuing their internships with a professional development and reflection course.

We are so proud of their accomplishments thus far and can't wait to see their successes in the future.
